Finally, it would not have been possible to produce the Almanac without the continuing support from the Charity Commission for England and Wales, and in particular their provision of access to the charities register.

NCVO Research

NCVO's research aims to support the development of policy and practice in the voluntary and community sector. Further information on our work can be found at: www.ncvo-vol.org.uk/research

Office for National Statistics

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) supports NCVO's research programme particularly because of NCVO and ONS' involvement in the Measuring Outcomes for Public Service Users research and the use of IDBR data held by ONS in helping to make these findings more robust. www.statistics.gov.uk/qmf

NCVO Third Sector Foresight

NCVO Third Sector Foresight helps voluntary and community organisations to be more effective with strategic insight and planning tools. The Third Sector Foresight website www.3s4.org.uk provides a searchable database of drivers shaping the future of the sector and a community of people interested in this area. www.3s4.org.uk
